A MESSAGE FROM OUR CEO

The mural on the cover of this Impact Report was painted in 2014 by clients of VIP Community Services, in collaboration with Groundswell artists Marc Evan and Raúl Ayala. Six years later, it continues to serve as a reminder of the impact each of us can make in our own lives and in the lives of others. Painted on the side of VIP's Laura Parsons Residential Facility, the mural celebrates the power of the mind, healing, and self-discovery.

The mural is illustrative of the challenges and promises we experienced this year. In February, we were introduced to a virus known to few, and soon after, COVID-19 was declared a global pandemic. New York City was at the early epicenter. Its communities of color including many Bronx neighborhoods were and continue to be disproportionately affected.

VIP pivoted to prioritize the safety of staff, clients, and the community we serve. Staff stepped up in remarkable ways to continue meeting the needs of clients, both in-person and virtually. Our community partners, board of directors, elected officials, and donors showed their generosity by donating money, food, personal protective equipment, and more to allow us to keep our doors open. With determination and purpose, VIP remains a reliable and critical resource for the Bronx and surrounding areas.

This year, we learned much about ourselves, our friends, and the generosity of strangers. As we look forward to the promise of widespread vaccinations in 2021, we will work to rebuild and to address the inequities in healthcare laid bare by the pandemic. Our commitment to improving the health and well-being of our community is strengthened by the knowledge that we are partners. Together we can heal, plan, and work to achieve great things.

Thank you for your support.

OTP Nurses Go Above and Beyond During COVID-19

In addition to the ongoing challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic, public health officials in more than 40 U.S. states have reported increases in opioid-related mortality as well as ongoing concerns for those with a mental illness or substance use disorder.*

During this critical time, VIP's frontline workers, including the nurses in our Opioid Treatment Program (OTP), are going above and beyond to ensure patients receive the quality care they deserve. Throughout the pandemic, the clinic has kept its doors open, starting at 5:30 a.m. on weekdays and 6:30 a.m. on Saturdays. The clinic has pivoted to take-home medications to reduce traffic and provide a safer and more efficient service for approximately 1,500 patients.

Nurses provide a person-centered approach to care by ensuring patients are not just a number. "Our nurses get to know our patients in a way that makes patients feel cared for," said Joseph McCrawford, who is a Registered Nurse and serves as Nurse Manager in OTP. "If something seems off with the patient, our nurses are likely to notice and will refer the patient to counseling or a more suitable treatment option."

During the early months of the pandemic, Mr. McCrawford said some of his team members were out sick, so other nurses willingly stepped up to work the extra hours. Mr. McCrawford said he is grateful for his team's dedication, selflessness, and putting VIP's patients first.
